

FRATERNITAS ORDO DRACONIS

THE GRAND MASTER

Viglas, 19 March 2025

My dear brothers and sisters,

I feel it is my duty to share my thoughts and feelings with you.

By studying the history of the foundation of the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis by King Sigismund in 1408, it becomes evident that this Order was unique, different from all other royal orders established before and after it.

Usually, when speaking about the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis, it is described as a continuation of the tradition initiated by King Charles Robert of Anjou, who founded the Order of Saint George in the 14th century. The nobles closest to the King belonged to that Order, supporting him and protecting his rights to the throne. According to official sources, the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis was also established to protect the rights of King Sigismund.

This is partly true, but the history of its foundation and the activities of its members had a much deeper spiritual and even mystical dimension. For this reason, the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis is unique among all medieval orders.

The idea of its creation belonged to Sigismund's second wife, Queen Barbara of Cilli. Indeed, it was at her suggestion that, in 1408, the King founded the Brotherhood at Viglas Castle, a place chosen for a reason.

This castle was originally built by the Templars. According to legend, all castles built by the Templars possess esoteric powers, incorporated into their structures through special rituals. For this reason, among the many castles existing in the Kingdom of Hungary, Viglas was specifically chosen as the place where the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis would be founded. For the same reason, Queen Barbara gave birth to her daughter Elizabeth at this location.

The idea of creating the Order was conveyed to her by a man named Abramelin, her mystical adviser. Abramelin's life story is unique, but I will not dwell on it here. I will simply say that he travelled to China, Jerusalem and Egypt, where he acquired his knowledge.

The main purpose of the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis was to attract an ancient magical force that had existed since the dawn of civilisation. This force was symbolised by the dragon, the oldest mystical creature.

Through special rituals, the members of the Order sought to control this primordial energy, combining it with the Christian faith. For this reason, the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis received the approval and blessing of the Catholic Church and the Pope himself.

Our task is to preserve and honour this legacy.

Four thousand years ago, a great event took place in our world:

A man named Abraham appeared, artificially separating a small group of people, mainly members of his family and relatives, and leading them away from the city of Ur in Mesopotamia into the desert. He transformed them from settled inhabitants into nomads. The reason for this choice was that he had introduced them to the idea of One God and established rules that differed radically from the way of life of the peoples of the region. For example, he prohibited polytheism (paganism), human sacrifices, the consumption of animal blood and many other practices. Thus, a people emerged who would later be called Eber (Hebrews). This event took place at the beginning of the Age of Aries, which lasted 2,000 years.

After another 2,000 years, another epoch-making event occurred: the coming of Jesus Christ.

He brought the teaching of the One God to the rest of humanity. As a result, paganism was eradicated, the Christian world was born, spirituality grew, and society achieved prosperity and success in economic, moral and cultural development. The coming of Jesus Christ marked the beginning of the Age of Pisces, which also lasted 2,000 years.

Today, we have entered a new era: the Age of Aquarius.

We are only at its beginning, but we can already see the world changing rapidly. People, relationships, social structures and mindsets are changing. Cultural values that have existed for centuries are disappearing. Civilisations are mixing: Europeans are moving to Asian and Arab countries, while Asians, Arabs and Africans are moving to Europe. The number of mixed marriages is increasing.

Religions are losing their original value and meaning, increasingly becoming traditions rather than spiritual ideologies. People are living in a state of constant stress. For many, drugs have become a normal way of escaping reality. Conflicts between citizens and governments are increasing.

Governments are seeking to destroy the institution of the family, devalue family values and undermine the relationship between parents and children, depriving parents of their authority and their right to educate their own children. Immoral ideas and lifestyles are being imposed, ultimately leading to declining birth rates in developed countries and the complete deterioration of the younger generation.

In light of what has been said, every person has two possibilities, two choices:

The first is to remain detached and observe what is happening without taking action.

The second is to make decisions and take action in an attempt to influence the situation, at least to some extent.

I am convinced that, through the restoration of the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis, we can unite people who are not indifferent to what is happening, who value ecumenical and Christian principles, who want to see their children happy, successful, strong and morally sound, and who wish to live according to principles they find acceptable rather than those imposed from outside.

I am certain that such people are numerous, but at present they are divided. We can unite them.

The Fraternitas Ordo Draconis is neither a political party nor a religious organisation. It is an association with a special mission: to preserve our ecumenical-Christian culture, traditions and way of life.

If we so wish, I am certain that we can bring great benefit to society.

The Age of Aquarius, which we have entered, is characterised by greater spirituality. It is possible that what is happening at this moment is a kind of test for the future, intended to determine whether humanity is capable of preserving the spiritual values that have been handed down to us over the past 4,000 years.

If humanity proves to be morally strong, we will witness a powerful growth and development of spirituality.

But if our values fade under the pressure of the current situation, then, instead of spiritual elevation, the world will once again descend into a dark age, marked by wars, crises, epidemics and natural catastrophes.

In conclusion, if we succeed in making even a small contribution to preserving our worldview and culture at a dignified level, then the restoration and development of the Fraternitas Ordo Draconis will have been justified and meaningful.

May God bless the Brotherhood, and may God bless you all.
